

But...what if my best friend found out?She might start coming with me, then the whole group would follow, and its magic would be lost