

Everything in the world has faults. It would also be easy to create a cultural invasion of entire countries
.and destroy their original culture. Technology also causes people to become unsocial