

European higher education is no exception to this internationalisation trend: The success of the 1. erasmus programme and the rapid growth of English-medium instruction (EMI) in most European universities during the past decades attest to this tendency (wachter & maiworm, 2008, 2014).