

Lead isotopic mixing model Lead isotopic composition was characterized to discriminate the different Pb sources, and their respective contributions were calculated by using mixing model