

Research Computers in the healthcare field have vastly increased the amount of knowledge that medical staff can access