The Network Organization ● In a network organizational structure, teams are structured based on relative networks. This is primarily well– suited for organizations that require work to be done by external teams, have various global locations, or even own multiple small businesses. ● Best for teams that are looking for: Communication within networks Clear contact information Specialties within networks