transmission plants Cytokinins are transported upward through the xylem, and can move from root to: shoot or from shoot to root, affecting growth in different parts of the plant.

lakhasly.com © تم تلخيص النص بواسطة موقع لخصلي