

Select College, a hypothetical educational institution, can ensure a strong and reliable recruitment process by following several steps. Finally, Select College should conduct comprehensive background checks and reference checks to ensure the chosen candidate is a good fit for the organization and the role. Once they have received applications, Select College should conduct a thorough screening process, which may include reviewing resumes, cover letters, and conducting initial interviews (either by phone or video conference).