

The types of knowledge being captured by Starbucks are tacit and explicit, as the company decided to .engage with customers through social media