

A lead compound may arise variety different sources. Lead compounds are found by characterizing natural products, employing combinatorial chemistry, or by molecular modeling as in rational drug design.2) Chemicals identified as hits through high-throughput screening may also become lead compounds.