

Magnetic devices such as hard disk drives use magnetic fields to magnetize tiny individual sections of a .metal spinning disk.Each tiny section represents one bit