

The UAE Energy Strategy 2050 is a comprehensive national initiative aimed at transforming the country's energy sector. Additionally, the strategy emphasizes energy conservation in buildings, transportation, and industries, reflecting the UAE's commitment to global sustainability goals while driving economic growth. Announced in 2017, the strategy seeks to diversify the energy mix, reduce carbon emissions, and promote sustainability by integrating more renewable energy sources into the grid.