

The dimensioning of a material part subjected a fatigue stress is done starting from the curves of Wohler or curve S-N (Stress; Number of cycles). The used material is aluminum alloy 6082-T6. Each S-N curve diagram is obtained by determining the nominal fatigue strength of several test specimens subjected to different level of constant loading