

The veracity of the company's statements and its dedication to sustainable practices are called into doubt by this instance; it is crucial to verify these statements and determine how to improve sustainability practices and advertising credibility