Delivery Gap and Communications Gap are the two Gaps model that FedEx is addressing by learning about customers expectations.Also, when errors happen, FedEx customer service is trained to help accommodate the issues instantly or if they have an escalation process that will reach upper management if the problem is not solved