Encompasses tasks that determine the needs or conditions to meet for a new or altered product, taking account of the possibly conflicting, vague and incomplete requirements of the various stakeholders.