

The hole in the ozone layer is a kind of skywriting. At first it seemed to spell out our continuing " complacency before a witch's brew of deadly perils. But perhaps it really tells of a newfound talent to ".work together to protect the global environment