

Biocapacity: This measures the capacity of an area or ecosystem to generate renewable resources – and absorb wastes, especially carbon dioxide, given current management practices. – Ecological .Footprint: This measures the demand placed on the Earth's ecosystems by human activities