

In 2008, Barnet Council launched a major project called 'Future Shape'. This is an organisation-wide, community-involved initiative that focuses on how the council can continue to provide high-quality and joined-up services while finding new ways of delivering services that improve quality but reduce costs