

The movie "Wonder" is a heartwarming and inspiring story that has left a lasting impact on me. Released in 2017, it quickly became one of my all-time favorites due to its powerful message and emotional depth.

The plot revolves around a young boy named August Pullman, who was born with a rare facial deformity. As a result, he has undergone multiple surgeries and has always been homeschooled by his mother. However, as he reaches fifth grade, his parents decide to enroll him in a mainstream school. The movie follows August as he navigates the challenges of fitting in, making friends, and dealing with bullies. I vividly remember watching "Wonder" at a local movie theater with my family. It was a rainy Saturday afternoon, and we decided to see the film based on its positive reviews
