Organization The organization is another key element of successful entrepreneurship. Without organization, everything will become disorganized and unmanageable which further will cause losses, decreasing business goodwill, unsatisfied customers, and mental stress to the staff due to which the workers may leave the organization Hence it is insignificant to maintain a decent organizational structure within the company, which defines who will perform a specific task and the way that task would be performed.