

The results are significantly important due to the fact that these hybrid polymer composite materials can actually be used for the removal of organic dyes and possibly in future studies can be conducted for the hydrogen production aspect of this kind of polymer composite. This means the results are of significant importance and I must mention that our polymer composite material "Manuscript Title" rapidly removes .the dye from wastewater in just under six minutes