

I explained this lesson in the second week, the second lesson, the first part, entitled Playing in the Zoo. And assessment activities that measure students' understanding at the end of the lesson. An integrated plan suitable for students that contains the lesson objectives, strategies, and materials used that help explain the lesson. The textbook also includes various different activities at the beginning of the lesson and at the end of the lesson to measure the students' understanding of the lesson. The new plan that teachers are using this year is a suitable plan to present the goals, strategies, and materials used by any teacher in the class. Because of the network, the video and pictures were not displayed, so I used another alternative, such as using a speaker and displaying the video on a laptop. I used different and diverse methods and strategies to explain the lesson to the students and make it easier for them to understand the lesson. I chose these methods because they motivate the students to know the content of the lesson and understand
