

It is set of atom of different elements joined together and behave like one atom during a chemical reaction, having its own valency and it isn't existed solely(individually