

Life is a big school, where we learn many new things every day. So, let us commit to follow the right path—the path of those whom Allah Almighty has blessed and not of those whom His anger has cursed. Similarly, we can feel satisfied that others are also human beings and they have their own of faults and failures.