

Aerobic endospore-forming bacteria of the Bacillaceae family have been recognized as major contributors to dairy product quality issues over the past 2 decades .Studies across the globe have consistently identified Bacillus licheniformis, Anoxybacillus sp., and Geobacillus sp. as the 3 primary . sporeformers present in dairy powders