

Selected Topics in Entrepreneurship In this course, students get an overview about the definition of entrepreneurship, examples of successful innovations, and the prospects of starting a company. The course covers idea generation and opportunities, business model canvas, and an overview of some business fundamentals such as types of businesses and business functions, in addition to .communication and presentation skills