

Changes that can be made to improve teaching methods in my school are to increase technology awareness. Nowadays, the age of pen and paper has changed. We can replace this method with the use of technology and computers so that the school becomes the appropriate place for students. Through the use of technology tools, students can be taught enough to learn how to enter college. The computer has also become a faster place for a student to type information. Ultimately, the use of modern technology and computers is one of the ways in which education at my school can be improved.
