

Having friends from many countries is something makes the person knowing many things. However, I? have a Yemeni and a Belgians friends. ?To start with, the Yemeni friend has his traditional way of communicating with others. He prefers to communicate with his friends and family members by talking to them face-to-face rather than ?culture. They have different ways of communication. The culture of those .friends would sometimes shock