

The provisional measures taken by the security council shall be considered as advice to the parties to-the conflict taken by the security council as advice provided to the parties to the conflict without prejudice
.to their legal positions