

The summit's statement outlined measures to minimize the pandemic's economic and social damage,
.support global growth, and make sure that global markets remain stable