In conclusion, everything that's done in PD1 is mainly on papers and computers.Starting from identifying the problem all the way to fully understanding how to accomplish the task, solve the problem, give a solution and set all the needed criteria that we have to follow as well as stay within the limits of the constraints, we determined a functional prototype that shows how we envisioned the final product to look like will be prepared and present it to the class instructor.