

Detective Colmes was at the coffee shop around the corner when he learned that Jones's Jewelry had been broken into. Colmes looked out the broken window at the sidewalk, littered with glass. He arrived at the scene of the burglary in moments. Mr. Jones, the owner of the store, explained what had happened