Increasing public awareness of available finance and career options Increasingly, training workshops and forums are critical in preparing students with essential learning to excel academically and occupationally.Collectively, these financial workshops improved my financial understanding, writing accuracy, and research skills whichinfrastructure me to address difficult tasks in academic activities and vocation.Over the past year, I attended three significant events: the Financial Planning Workshop, the Effective Communication in Business Seminar and Advanced Research Methodologies Forum.3.Research Proficiency: Participation in Advanced Research Methodologies Forum helped me to acquire knowledge of how to find and organize information efficiently.An informative part of literature reviews was a segment of critical evaluating of sources and proper structuring of arguments.An interesting one involved forming hypothetical portfolios and helped me understand both the dynamics of the market and choose the right stocks in the right proportion.Writing Skills: Effective Communication in Business Seminar mainly dealt with issues to do with writing skills, especially in business, in areas such as writing emails, proposals and reports.Personal Development 1.2.
