

A friendship is a bond between two people or a group of people. These are known as friends. If you have a friend, you are in luck. Friends have a lot in common. They share happiness and sadness. They support you and offer advice