

Resource Duplication: The split may result in redundant roles and resource allocation, increasing operational costs and complicating management