

.The ability to understand the feelings of others is called empathy