

Most people have a tendency to gossip about others at one time or another. Rumors spread in classrooms, classrooms, offices, restaurants, hallways, on the street, on the phone, and on the Internet. Gossipers feel included by excluding those they are gossiping about