

If the founder is a legal entity, waqf should be declared by the general assembly, not by the Board of Directors. If the founder was interdicted for his indebtedness, the permission from the creditors should be taken before establishing waqf. The founder should possess a legal capacity to carry out financial transactions.