

There was a girl named Sarah who loved mathematics but her grades were always bad, Because of her slow comprehension and interest in mathematics as well, she would ask many seemingly stupid questions to the school, and the teacher would make fun of Sarah and mock her in harsh terms in front .of her classmates