

All living things produce L-malic acid, sometimes referred to as hydroxyl succinic acid, which is an .organic acid