

Still love you, even when the sky falls down Still need you, when no one's around No matter the storm, no matter the rain I'd choose you again and again Still love you, after all we've been through Still hold on,
'cause I know it's true Though the years may take us far apart You'll forever live inside m heart