

Criminal investigations in the modern era usually use several modern scientific techniques known as forensic science