

The virus affects revenue and production rates, as well as profit margins. The estimated and reported in the accounts of the financial statements of the firms, and this would affect the quality of these financial statements, and perhaps. Certain companies will go down, and therefore the reverse of what is disclosed in the list. Financial in monetary terms of the company's investments and the strength of its financial status at the ends of the year.