

Atrial tachycardia is a condition that usually stops on its own and may not be sustained if the underlying
.cause is treated