

It is the corporate responsibility of Facebook to protect its users' private information from being used illegally. In order to correct this one of the suggested short-term solutions is to ask the third party that is Cambridge Analytica to delete all the data that has been collected from Facebook.