

I agree with that old saying "Crime Doesn't Pay". No matter how the criminal smart, but no one is perfect and he is going to make some mistakes lead to arrest him/her. In all crime recorded history, we have read about genius criminal who have been caught by police officers. In modern cities, there are cameras in every shop, street, and building which help police to catch criminal easily. At the moment of catching a criminal, he loses everything in his life like: money, family, friends, and career future. So, "Crime Doesn't Pay" is true saying
