

can produce harsh results. Slightly negligent persons might not recover anything for very serious injuries caused by defendants' greater negligence.