

The accessions from 94 each collection were tested in the same tray and the four H. brassicae isolates were inoculated in separate trays. Twelve plants per accession were sown per tray and the test was replicated in three different times.