

Simple plays an essential role in providing energy to the body by decomposing it into glucose, the main source of energy